

Webmaster report 2024/25

Hopefully, you have had the opportunity to visit our new website that went live last December.

This has a new and more colourful appearance, compared with the earlier software, offering a fresh and exciting way of delivering our news and programme of events and we hope you find this useful in planning your u3a activities.

Since going live, just over ten months ago, our website has received 14,000 'visits'; the most popular being our 'Home' and 'Events' pages.

I hope that the weekly 'What's On This Week' page is a useful feature as a reminder for your diary.

We continue to welcome comments and suggestions, and we would be pleased for any member to send suitable photographs, articles, a life story, or anecdote we can use in enriching this site for all of us to enjoy.

The ability to display multiple and dynamic viewing of our member's photographs has transformed some of our group activities and further plans to collate these memories, by our member Mike as our archivist, should allow this to increase.

Looking forward to another excellent and entertaining year for our u3a.
